

Animal Friends' Home-to-Home Placement Program

The Home to Home placement program was designed for those individuals and families who, finding it necessary to give up their beloved pets for adoption, want to take a more active role in the adoption process. Through the program, members of the public “place” cats, rabbits and dogs up for adoption via the Animal Friends website but are solely responsible for adopting their pet into a new home.

Under Home to Home, owners have the benefit (and responsibility) of meeting, screening and making adoption decisions. Potential adopters have the benefit of one-on-one interactions with the current owners in order to obtain firsthand information about the animal's likes, dislikes and other characteristics. The Home to Home placement program also allows Animal Friends to help more animals in the community, even when our kennels are full. At its very core, this program helps bring together owners and adopters, on their own terms, in their own communities.
